THE DEVELOPMENT OF INDEPENDENCE AND ITS IMPORTANCE IN THE FIRST THREE YEARS OF LIFE

For the human being the path towards independence is a life-long process that applies not only to physical but also to mental development, beginning at birth and progressing as the child develops. The child has an inner drive that guides him, but the development can only take place through the interaction with the environment where the adult plays a crucial role. We need to understand the process in order to help the human personality to achieve its independence.

Open to holders of all Montessori Infant-Toddler Diplomas.
